POLICE DOG PINES AWAY.

Last Saturday the Kentucky Irish American remarked that the escapades of Wendling, the murderer, proved that it was just as easy for a prisoner to leave the Frankfort Penitentiary as it was for a prisoner to leave the Louisville Jail, and that is simple enough. Sunday night three prisoners, two of them murderers, left the Frankfort Penitentiary without any trouble, making a total of seventeen prisoners who have escaped from that institution in the past ten months, while thirty-nine have escaped from road camps. There is no record of how many convicts pursue the same course as Wendling and leave the institution to return at their own pleasure. The bitter protest of the citizens of Frankfort to out "reform" Governor seems to have had little effect and "Howdy Ed" continues to be the best asset the Democratic party has in the State. From time to time we can look forward to stories of mismanagement in our penal institutions, as the Juniper Club chief and "reform" assistants are, like Morrow, long on promises but short on performance.

Poor old Abe Lincoln must have turned over in his grave last Saturday night while the banquet of the local Republican machine was in progress at the Seelbach Hotel under the misnomer of a Lincoln day celebration. Machine politicians, city and county office holders, renegade Democrats and ward heelers celebrating the anniversary of a great American President, and all trying to prove that Lincoln was wrong when he said that the people are the best of all the people all the time. Under the guise of "reform" the Hert-Searcy-Chilton machine fooled pretty near all the people by electing a near Mayor and an incompetent administration in 1917. The banquet was a prelude to prove that old Abe was wrong about fooling 'em all the time. The toastmaster was Robert H. Lucas, who fills a dual role as Prosecuting Attorney of the Police Court and Chairman of the Republican City and County Committee. Toastmaster Lucas led off with an address that seems to have been a bummer, judging from the comments about town, and several leading Republicans say that the Log Cabin editor should have censured his speech before the banquet.

Many of those present thought Lucas intended to deliver a humorous address when he led off with how Louisville "is now enjoying the best and cleanest administration it has ever known." This must have been heartily applauded by Max Himmelstark, Tommy West, Pete Bitzer and George Miller, proprietor of the "Bucklet of Bloods," who stated recently that he is old boots and shoes with this present "reform" administration, and who unfortunately was arrested again the night following the banquet by revenue officers on the charge of selling liquor. But back to the banquet, as they say in the scenario. Lucas then told how the wicked Democrats used to steal elections and then it was time for all of the Republican machine followers to chuckle as they thought of the past few campaigns. All right, member the pet little primary of Mr. Lucas' "reform" associates when the testimony in the Warley case showed that negroes then in the Penitentiary were freed and when Deputy County Clerk Gilligan was put on the stand with the poll books in his hand it was shown by Warley's attorneys that dead men were voted in the interest of the "reform" machine. How the Hert-Searcy-Chilton followers and the Democratic party was forced to petition the Election Commissioners for election officers, the Tenderloin district being unanimously for Mr. Lucas' party and the "reform" administration. Many commenting on Mr. Lucas' talk say that he was only trying to bamboozle the country Republicans who were present and his talk was not intended for city consumption. All classes, however, must admire Mr. Lucas' versatile performance about campaign and election time. For instance, as Chairman of the Republican City and County Committee he instructs his workers, white and black, to go out and put the Democrats to rout and bring home the election. In the event that any of his fellow Republicans violate the election laws, as for instance, suppose one of the enthusiastic colored Republicans register and vote two or three times we behold Mr. Lucas as Prosecutor of the Police Court trying to punish his fellow Republican. Thus we have the versatile Mr. Lucas standing between love and duty. As a Republican Chairman he must love the offending Republican, but as a duty to the public he is expected to prosecute him with all the vigor possible. Some people seem to think that the position of Republican Chairman is incompatible with that of Prosecutor, but to date the objection doesn't seem to worry the "reform" leader.

Speaking of humor at the banquet, we will agree with the Louisville Herald when it awards the palm to Eugene Dailey, the near Mayor's Secretary. The Herald said that Mr. Dailey won much laughter and applause, having great difficulty in reaching the subject assigned him. Regardless of party you will have to concur in the Herald's findings. Just get this one from Mr. Dailey, and it must have brought down the house for real unadorned humor. Pointing at George Weissinger-Smith he said: "There is the greatest and best Mayor the city of Louisville ever had." Now that's what everyone will call real humor, and we only hope that Mr. Dailey can be persuaded to "sprinkle" this choice bit of humor on every street corner in Louisville this coming campaign. If the near Mayor's Secretary can intersperse his campaign speeches with funny witticisms like the one about "Smith" being our prize Mayor then Bill Thorne and other humorists will have to look to their laurels.

About the only cost around here not going down with the other price reductions is the cost of fire. We never hear the "chick" fire department having any cheap fires. They are all big fires that run into thousands of dollars. This week we had the Bayless Bros. fire with an estimated loss of $25,000 and just half a square away the Stichel fire two days later with a $20,000 loss. If you attend any fire you are pretty apt to see everything the city has in the way of fire apparatus, as all fires now are pretty near third alarm fires—that is everything and everything is brought out to save the town. Of course calling out all of the fire apparatus is a little costly on the taxpayers and a little risky for other parts of town away from the fire, but under the present regime of "chicks" it seems as if everyone is needed to extinguish an ordinary blaze. Here's another familiar statement in connection with the fires: "Much damage was done by water." Niagara Falls runs a bad second when we have a fire, as the "chick" firemen believe greatly in the power of water (at a fire) and try to deluge everything in sight, so there will not be any risk in getting at close quarters. One of the Assistant Chiefs remarked recently that he was dog gone tired of handling country firemen.

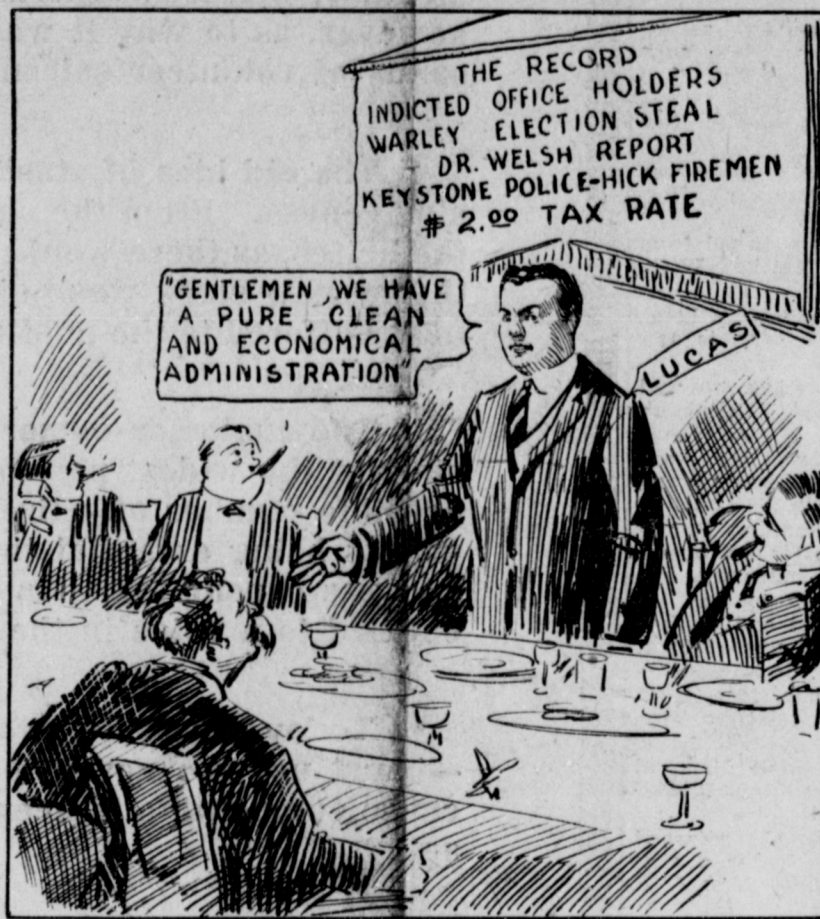

The Louisville Times tells us Thursday of a crook disguised as a countryman out on Eighteenth street buncoing everyone right and left, many of the merchants in that vicinity. He was a "chick" who was overall tucked in his boots, chin whiskers and had all the appearances of the country constable in "Way Down East." Our noble Key-stoners from the Seventh district were all around twenty of them and the Log Cabin wagon being stalled in the chase. Many seem to think that this garb of a countryman fooled all of the Keystoneers, as they evidently thought he was one of their number doing plain clothes duty. We hope that after Dr. Welch reads this he will tender that delayed apology to the Irish for saying that the present police department was composed mostly of Irish. Speaking of country sleuths, have you ever seen the funny Keystone detective who poses as a "detective" for catching automobilists who linger overtime on Fourth avenue. This Cap Collier wears a ministerial looking coat, a Pike county sombrero and a celluloid mask that may have been clean a long, long time ago. He gets down on his knees on the curbing and marks auto tires with the symbolic figures of 2:58, 3:29, 12:52, or such odd hours, meaning the time the auto began its parking time. The odd minutes are probably a habit of his street car days when he was "railroading" on the Brook street car line. He's a smooth one alright, and must be a terror to automobile drivers.

This is the story of a dog, known as "Bum," the police dog, and was a pet of the pride of the Louisville police department when he had real police. Under the Democratic administration "Bum" was discovered and earned a wide reputation as first aide to the police in tracking well-doers and for his faithfulness in patrolling beats with the patrolmen. When the Republican "reform" administration came into power "Bum" found his role a little harder in becoming attached to policemen, as the "Bum" men were dropped to make way for the Keystoneers. The comedy and pranks of the Keystoneers never appealed to "Bum" who took his duties seriously, and the sight of the uniform meant less and less to him all the time. In the past year or two "Bum" would run up to one of the present cops only to be disappointed when he found that it was a motorman or conductor disguised as a policeman. Daily "Bum" learned to sorrow that only a few real policemen were left, and he began to pine away and this past week he died of a broken heart.

CARDINAL GIBBONS.

For the first time since he was taken ill more than two months ago, Cardinal Gibbons last Friday attended church service. He went into the Cathedral during the noon hour Lenten services.

OVERLOOKS THE RECORD

Toastmaster, Prosecutor and Republican Chairman Lucas at Lincoln day banquet forgot several things in his eulogy of "reform" administration.

GENERAL MEETING.

Having received holy communion at their respective churches Sunday morning members of the St. Vincent de Paul Society filled the Knights of Columbus Hall when the general meeting was held in the afternoon. President John Doyle occupied the chair and read a number of new members into the society at large. Secretary Bohan read the reports of the conferences and the Special Works Committee, and they were dispensed and many poor people given aid by this great society. Thomas Keenan made a strong appeal in behalf of the suffering women and children in Erin, urging his hearers to co-operate with the American Association for Relief in Ireland.

DISCOURAGING.

The words of King George in his speech from the throne at the opening of Parliament on Tuesday afford small hope for justice for oppressed Ireland. King George expressed himself favorably disposed towards the Russian Reds, but discussing the Irish question he is reported as saying: "The situation in Ireland still causes me distress. A misguided section of the Irish people persists in resorting to methods of criminal violence with the object of establishing an independent republic. Neither Irish unity nor Irish self-government can be attained by this means. Arrangements for bringing into force the Government's Irish act are now well advanced and I earnestly trust that in the near future the majority of the people will show their determination to repudiate violence and give effect to an act which confers upon them responsibilities of self-government and provides machinery by which they can attain Irish unity by constitutional means."

ASKED TO GO TO ROME.

Dom Edmund M. Obrecht, abbot at Gethsemane Monastery, fifty miles south of Louisville in Nelson county, was invited by his intimate friend, Archbishop Dennis J. Dougherty, Philadelphia, to accompany him to the next Papal consistory at Rome, where the Philadelphia Cardinal, Abbot Obrecht, however, found he was unable to make the trip and gave expression to his deep regret. Archbishop Dougherty was among the dignitaries who took part in the ceremonial when Abbot Obrecht took charge at Gethsemane in 1898. The two Catholic leaders have been close friends for many years.

HOLY NAME ELECTION.

The Holy Name Society of St. Louis Bertrand's church met Sunday afternoon and elected the following officers: President, John H. Hennessy; Vice President, John J. Barry; Financial Secretary, Thos. P. Keegan; Recording Secretary, Frank X. Driscoll; Treasurer, John F. Burke; Marshals, Thomas Lynch and Leo Meyer. Rev. Father R. G. Lyons is chaplain and under his guidance the society bears the distinction of being the largest branch of the Holy Name Society south of the Ohio river.

REQUEST TO SISTERS.

Real estate valued at $500 was given to the Little Sisters of the Poor by the will of Johanna Garin, and bequests of $200 each were made to St. Vincent and St. Thomas Orphanages. The remainder of the estate, valued at $1,200, was given to Mrs. Edward Von Roenn, a friend.

EVER TRUE

Jesuits and Church Have Been Firm Champions of Public Education.

Civilta Catholic Pays For Its Course by Being Suppressed in Naples.

The Best Way to Get Possession of the Minds of the Masses.

NO MERE CHANCE HAPPENING.

An interesting bit of history, illustrating the attitude of a prominent Jesuit towards education of the people, is related in L'Ecole Emancipée, the organ of the French Public School Teachers' Association. According to a translation of the article published in the Living Age, there were assembled in Paris one day in November, 1849, at a time when the much discussed Falloux law for the regulation of public instruction in France was being urged, several distinguished gentlemen. Falloux's associates in drafting the law. The gentlemen named were the noted Catholic publicist Veulliot, Count Montalembert, Monsignore Parisi, the Bishop of Langres; the statesman Thiers, and a Jesuit, whose name is not given in the article. It is related, and the article is slightly colored with a liberalist tinge, that while Thiers was inclined to consider it "too liberal." It appeared that the opinion of the latter would prevail when the Jesuit father, who until then had no active share in the discussion, asked for permission to speak and declared: "It seems to me that all that has been said so far is based upon an initial error. You are all afraid of public education. You fancy that when people are educated it will be impossible to govern them, and that as their knowledge increases they will be more prone to revolution. We do not fear of educating the people. In my opinion, education is the best way to get possession of the minds of the masses."

The Jesuit father offered a sketch of the historic development of France in support of his contention, and argued his point in spite of the opposition of the Bishop and Veulliot. He pleaded for cheaper books for qualifying the public to read the journals, and added: "What our public needs is free, obligatory, public instruction; and I may add, lay instruction." The article concludes with the statement that when M. Thiers, after twenty years, was elected President of the Republic, "his school policy and his use of the press were tokens of homage" to the advice of the Jesuit.

The article suggests repeatedly that the speaker quoted supported his contentions with the argument that public instruction would, rather than serve to emancipate the people from the paternalistic rule of the church and State or to incite them to revolution, leave them docile and obedient. That this was not his true attitude—while he may have intimated that consideration—like evident from another passage of his discourse: "If in days to come," he said, "the government of any nation is overthrown, it will be a government whose subjects are largely illiterate. For complete education makes a man free; but half education merely makes him overconfident, and an easy prey to the persuasion of men who would rule him." Colored as the report printed in the Fernch paper is, it serves to emphasize the fact that the priest mentioned—warmly espoused and advocated the cause of popular instruction in the face of opposition. And this is no mere chance happening. At the same time that the Falloux law was being agitated in France the Jesuits in the kingdom of Naples likewise championed public instruction, at the risk of losing the favor of those in power. Priests of the order, publishing the Civiltà Cattolica in Naples, urged in the columns of this famous journal the opening of schools and the teaching of the masses to read and write. The secular powers refused to tolerate such propaganda, and even suppressed the journal. The Jesuits were forced to remove their publication office to Rome, where the Civiltà has ever since continued to appear. The advocacy of public instruction by this order, and the facts connected with the suspension of the noted review in Naples are emphasized by the savant Krauss, a distinguished writer on church history and the history of Christian art, in his Life of Cavour, the celebrated Italian statesman. The stress Krauss lays on the incident is the fact that he was far from cordially disposed towards the order.

Those prone to criticize the church as an alleged enemy of public instruction, arguing from the neglect of instruction in Catholic countries, overlook the fact that such countries have frequently been under the guidance of rulers who were not willing to be led by the church's counsels. It was not the church but autocratic kings and princes who at times looked with disfavor upon instruction for the members of the lower classes. In fact, historians have discovered that public instruction deteriorated in France during the 18th century, that is, during the reign of such monarchs as Louis XIV. and Louis XV. And it is also a fact that the Catholic hierarchy in both France and England were none too anxious to establish public education when they had succeeded to power, and that for the very reasons which the Jesuit father brought out so clearly. ORDINATIONS.

Edward Carlin, a son of the Covington Cathedral parish, and Michael Tierney, of Ashland, were ordained to the deaconship last Sunday morning by Right Rev. Bishop Broome in the chapel of His Lordship. Today at St. Mary Seminary they will be ordained to the priesthood by His Grace Most Rev. Archbishop Henry Moeller. Today also Oscar L. Poole, of Leitchfield, will be ordained to the priesthood for the Covington diocese at Baltimore.

TRANSFER OF CHAPLAIN.

Rev. Father Ignatius Fealy, U. S. A., chaplain of the Third Cavalry stationed at Fort Myer, Virginia, has been ordered transferred to Camp Travis, San Antonio, Texas. During the war Father Fealy was chief instructor at the Chaplains' Training School at Camp Taylor, this city, and is known to thousands of men in the army, having been commissioned in 1914.

WILL AID ERIN.

With over 300 people, representing all sections of Kentucky, assembled in Lexington last Saturday, the American Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic was formally organized and the first annual State convention held. The proceedings were harmonious and earnest and presage good work for suffering Erin. Moderation but firm and united action were advocated by the different speakers and the resolutions adopted. Election of officers and passage of resolutions calling on Congress immediately to recognize the Irish Republic were the outstanding features of the convention. The officers elected were: President—Martin T. Kelly, Lexington. Vice President—Frank J. Hanlon, Covington. Secretary—Richard J. Higgins, Newport. Treasurer—Miss Mary Corcoran, Louisville. The Board of Directors is composed of Frank McCarthy, Lexington; Richard Tobin, Frankfort; E. H. Gorey, Paris; Thomas Conry, Covington; Thomas McGuigan, Paducah; John Tierman, Newport; John Nolan, Richmond; J. Cassidy, Bellevue; P. J. Leonard, Winchester; Owen Sullivan, Louisville; Fred J. Schmitz, Latonia; Nora E. Cooper, Nicholasville. John G. Regan, of Newport, was named National Director of the association from Kentucky. Delegates were instructed to form their chapters and to hold elections to name delegates to the national convention to be held in Chicago some time in April.

RECENT DEATHS.

Funeral services for Mrs. Bridget C. Jeffries, who died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Arthur Pierce, 727 South Eighteenth street, were held at the Sacred Heart church, Rev. Father Walsh celebrating the requiem mass. Besides Mrs. Pierce she leaves a son, James J. Jeffries. Tuesday morning the funeral of Conrad Wick, an aged produce dealer, was held from St. Paul's church, Rev. Father Deane officiating at the services. He is survived by five sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Bauer, 1134 East Burnett avenue, with whom he resided; Mrs. Theresa Pullom, Mrs. Mary Herdt and Miss Rosie Wick, and a brother, Joseph Wick. Friends and relatives are deeply grieved over the death of Mrs. Mary Healy, beloved wife of Patrick Healy, 2912 Slevin street, last Sunday afternoon. She was thirty-six years old and was held in high esteem by neighbors and all who knew her. The funeral took place Tuesday morning with requiem mass at St. Cecilia's church.

Mrs. Lydia Sticker, beloved wife of Anthony Sticker, closed her eyes for eternal rest on Saturday at her home in Shepherdsville. The remains were brought to the residence of Mrs. Sticker, 2102 West Walnut, Tuesday morning, the funeral taking place Tuesday morning from St. Charles church, Rev. Father Raffo conducting the solemn obsequies.

INHERIT IRISH FORTUNE.

Fairies from the Emerald Isle seem to have smiled on Mrs. Rosie Cox, wife of James Cox, near Rose Hill, Oldham county, as she evidently is one of three heirs to an estate in County Derry, Ireland. A few days ago a letter from John J. Dwyer, attorney, 61 Broadway, New York, was received by the Lexington Herald asking that paper to aid in locating Patrick Sweeney or any of his children, as "a substantial inheritance in County Derry awaits him or his heirs." Mrs. Cox is one of the three children of Patrick Sweeney. John and Michael Sweeney, her brothers, live in Lexington. John is chief engineer at the Lafayette Hotel. Their father, Patrick Sweeney, who was born in County Derry, Ireland, was for a number of years employed in the artificial gas plant at Richmond, and later moved to Lexington.

ANOTHER VICTORY.

Before a great audience the Cathedral High School basketball teamers dropped a six-and-a-half scrap to the St. Xavier's five of Louisville, at Indianapolis Saturday night 24 to 21. The visitors held a slight advantage all the way, leading 12 to 0 at the end of the first half and increasing the margin one more point in the second half. The game started for the visitors and O'Connor for the Cathedral.

HELPING CITY PASTORS.

Franciscan fathers from St. Boniface Convent are assisting a number of city pastors at the devotions during the Lenten season. On Wednesday evenings Rev. Father Filbert will preach at St. Martin's church and Rev. Father Casper at St. Vincent de Paul's. Rev. Father Simeon will preach the Sunday night sermons at Holy Trinity church on Kentucky street.

FORTY HOURS.

The Forty Hours devotions will take place in the city next at St. Cecilia's church, opening with high mass tomorrow morning and closing on Tuesday. Rev. Father Cane, the pastor, will direct the beautiful services, assisted by priests from other churches. Many will attend these devotions in preparation for their Easter duty.

FOURTH DEGREE.

Sunday, February 27, instead of Washington's birthday, the usual date for this ceremony, has been decided on for the exemplification of the Fourth degree of the Knights of Columbus. Bishop Muldoon has been asked to make the principal address at the banquet. Third degree members of good standing for two years are eligible.

IRELAND

American Committee for Relief Has Adopted Budget for its Campaign.

Acute Distress Among Thousands of Destitute and Homeless People.

Society of Friends Will Establish Their Headquarters in Dublin.

KENTUCKY'S QUOTA IS $50,000.

The American Committee for Relief in Ireland has adopted its budget for the campaign to raise funds to relieve the acute distress among the scores of thousands of destitute and homeless people in Ireland. In view of reports received from Ireland the Executive Committee decided that it would be necessary to raise $10,240,000 in the present campaign, Kentucky's quota being placed at $50,000. It is hoped to gather the full amount by the end of March. An appeal signed by the members of the committee declared that the continued devastation in Ireland made the raising of this sum imperative if adequate relief is to be given. The statement issued by the committee follows: "Cabled advices received from responsible authorities in Ireland show widespread unemployment, general economic disorganization, thousands of families homeless, and much suffering among women and children for the elementary needs of life. The continued devastation is steadily increasing the need for relief. To cope with this situation we have adopted a budget of $10,240,000, and we shall appeal to the American people, who have heretofore failed to respond to the call of suffering from a neighbor people. "A letter just received from Bishop MacRory on conditions in Belfast gives a striking picture of the dire need. 'Since the expulsion of workers from the shipyards in August last,' he writes, 'our local Relief Committee has had to find the necessities of life for 5,000 or 6,000 breadwinners and their dependents, in all nearly 30,000 souls. To these destitute persons we have had to distribute $75,000 weekly. From individuals and organizations in Great Britain we have received $600,000 for this work, but that source of aid is virtually exhausted, and unless American aid comes quickly, I don't know under heaven what will happen.' "Cardinal Logue has cabled a similar appeal. Archbishop Harty, of Cashel, compares the conditions in his diocese to those of devastated Belgium, and Archbishop Walsh, of Dublin, cables us that the want of employment in Dublin and Cork could not be exaggerated. James Douglas, of the Society of Friends, Dublin, has sent repeated appeals. Their urgent messages make the need clear. Relief will be administered through existing machinery, aided by units of American members of the Society of Friends, the first of which has arrived in London, en route to Ireland. "The Executive Committee has cabled an additional $50,000 to James Douglas, of the Society of Friends, Treasurer of the Irish White Cross, to provide for the cases of most immediate need. The first unit of the Society of Friends dispatched to Ireland will establish a headquarters in Dublin. "One of the most striking early contributions received by the committee was a check for $5,000 from the citizens of the little town of Mahanoy City, Pa., of which the population is only 18,000. The citizens of Mahanoy City and township, irrespective of creed or class, eagerly contributed to the relief of Ireland's bitter need as soon as the local committee issued its call. "The Philadelphia Branch of the A. C. R. I. was organized at a most enthusiastic meeting in that city on February 2. The meeting was called by a distinguished group, including Archbishop D. J. Dougherty, Gov. Wm. C. Sproul, Mayor J. Hampton Moore, Judge Theodore P. Johns, John J. McDonald, President Beneficial Savings Fund Society; Jeremiah J. Sullivan, President Union Traction Company; Sir James J. Ryan, Thomas D. Ferguson, J. Rogers Flannery, Supreme Knight James A. Flaherty, Edward J. Dooner, Judge John M. Patterson, Judge Joseph P. Rogers. The principal speaker was Judge Richard Campbell, representing the national organization.

The following members have been added to the National Council: James A. Broderick, Manchester, N. H.; John O'Hara Cosgrove, New York City; Hon. Martin J. Glynn, Albany, N. Y.

DEACON GETS RING.

M. J. Walsh, the contracting painter and veteran baseball umpire, was given a real surprise at the meeting of the Master Painters' Association here last week. Following the announcement that he had served sixteen years as Treasurer he was given a handsome diamond ring, of two beautiful stones, as a token of the esteem in which he is held. Will Brady, the plumber, a neighbor of Walsh, says that since the presentation the deacon threw away one of his gloves, but he is accused of envy by Walsh's fellow deacons. FINGER OF GUILT.

The pro-English press in this city is now busy covering up England's attempt to defraud the United States of its war loan by not mentioning the countrywide protests. Thus one can guess who is receiving a slice of the Lord Northcliffe slush fund.

SIMILAR CASE.

Lloyd George, the Premier liar and hypocrite of the age who opposes the establishment of an Irish Republic on the grounds that it might provide a base for lurking submarines, brings to mind that the United States should oppose the British control in the West Indies because of the danger to the Panama canal.

DOES SPLENDID WORK.

The American Committee for Irish Relief is doing splendid work and work that is absolutely necessary to save a goodly fraction of the Irish people from starvation and death. In a letter received recently from Ireland by one of our readers is a graphic picture of conditions there, including the primary cause of the distress that prevails over large areas. The shooting of live stock on the farms and the destruction of the reserves of foodstuffs appear to be one of the duties of the Black and Tans, and that duty they are discharging with unflagging zeal. "They mean to starve the people into submission," says the writer of the letter referred to. They have, however, reckoned without the host in this case, for the American Committee will see to it that no one suffers for the necessities of life. It will also call attention to British atrocities in Ireland in a manner that can not be ignored by the press and the public, who are accustomed to ebullitions of indignation at the horrors perpetrated by the Turks in Armenia, and we doubt not it will make new friends for the old cause amongst those who formerly were indifferent.

MEANS MORE GRAFT.

It appears that the Smith-Towner bill, which is aimed at the centralization of educational power and surveillance in Federal officials, calls for an annual appropriation of $100,000,000 with which to maintain its various officials and bureaus at the national capital. This is a large amount of money to have added to the people's taxation at any time, and even when the expenditure is necessary and therefore approved. The present time, however, demands retrenchment instead of additional expense, and the purposes of the bill have not the approval of the people. It is not hard to understand why the whole plan is strongly advocated by certain individuals. It would set up a huge political grafting chance. Still, the most serious result of the bill's passage would be its taking away from the States and their people control of their own schools and school funds. Tell your Congressmen to vote against this measure, and also your Senators. They ought to be against more taxation without any urging, but perhaps they have some private reasons for being in favor of having school funds manipulated in Washington. At least education and the schools ought to be kept free from Federal politics and the suspicion of graft designs.

DOUBLE-FACED.

The Courier-Journal, discussing the Debs case, says it "can understand and respect the motives of the man whose conscience prevents him from fighting for his country when that country has embarked upon a war of conquest. When Liebknecht denounced the Kaiser for making this wicked war, and bravely suffered the consequences, there was something heroic in the act, but we find nothing heroic in the conduct of the men and women in America, who saw nothing worthy of condemnation in Germany's effort to enslave Belgium." Will our neighbors explain why it sees nothing worthy of condemnation in England's effort to keep Ireland enslaved? Will the editor speak out? Kaiser and King, both are alike and not to be trusted. For the Courier-Journal's hostile attitude "there's a reason" which it has not dared make known.

MAKE HIM PAY.

English propagandists and the Tories in this country are busy trying to have the United States cancel the British Government's war debt, which amounts to $4,227,000,000, and presuming that it will be done John Bull is making no attempt to even pay the interest. While owing this huge sum to the taxpayers of this country England has quietly gobbled up the oil supply of Rumania, Galicia, Persia and Mesopotamia, and is trying to gain control of the commerce and trade of the world. Out of the war America asked nothing, and got just what she asked—nothing, but our taxpayers and Liberty bond buyers should be assured right now that their money will not be given to England to carry on her purposes of world wide control. Every American citizen should protest to his Representative and Senator against the attempt of the British Government to cheat the people of this country out of four billion dollars.

FRANCE WILL FOLLOW.

It is becoming increasingly evident that France and England are fast approaching the parting of the ways. There is friction over the Dardanelles, which England wants to control. At this time England has the best of the situation, for having taken Constantinople into favor against the advice of France, she is now using the Greeks to force the hostile Turks, under Kemal Pasha, to accept her domination. France has been played up and enmeshed by England, and she knows it, and this knowledge is irritating. Now some of our readers may ask what has all this to do with Ireland? It has much to do, since it reveals a growing anti-English feeling in France and is an assurance that if the United States recognizes the Irish Republic, France will follow suit the day after. It would be one way of getting square with England without the risk of open hostilities.

REPEATS 1918 TACTICS.

Is the Coalition Government preparing for a general election? It would appear so, for how else are we to explain the Premier's emphatic statement that the Germans must pay the impossible indemnity. The Premier is here repeating the tactics of 1918 when he went to the polls crying out that the Kaiser should be put on trial and punished for his crime against the peace of the world. No one knew better than the Premier that the Kaiser would not be called upon to answer for his misdeeds before an earthly tribunal, yet he did not hesitate to make the demand for his punishment a campaign cry and managed to dupe the war-weary English people into supporting the dishonest demand. Just now he is tempting the half-starved, hopeless English masses with a slice of a huge indemnity which he knows Germany can not pay, hence it is safe to conclude that he is preparing for another snap judgment of the English electorate. He may find, however, that he "can not fool all the people all the time."

EXCITING CONTEST.

The entries in the victricia popularity contest staged by Division 4, A. O. H., have rounded the half-mile mark, and from now on there will be some rapid changes in the big vote, the winning lady to receive the handsome victricia now on exhibition at Raffo's. President Joseph D. Hennessy announced Monday evening at the meeting that he wants members and their friends to turn in votes as soon as possible in order to give the committee a chance to have all in readiness for St. Patrick's day.

KNIGHTS DOWN BAPTISTS.

The Knights of Columbus basketball team defeated the fast Hazelwood Baptist team, leaders in the Church League, at St. Xavier gymnasium, by 20 to 11. Capt. Swift and Johnson played best for the Hazelwood boys.

"Why Is It Necessary to Advertise Your Preferred Stock?"

WE hear this question every now and then. It is asked by persons not familiar with our customer-ownership plan or with the financial requirements of service corporations. The same question might have been asked, however, as to why it was necessary to advertise Liberty Bonds and for thousands of volunteer salesmen to induce people to buy them.

The old idea of stock ownership of a successful corporation was that of exclusiveness. From the shareholders' point of view the fewer the shareholders the better, as there would then be larger proportionate profits to divide. On this theory new stock was quietly taken up by the old shareholders and seldom or never offered to the public.

The customer-ownership idea is the exact opposite of exclusiveness. It aims at the widest possible distribution of stock ownership among the largest possible number of citizens. In this way the necessary profits (reasonable profits being essential to any industry or individual) are shared with electric and gas consumers. As every share of preferred stock has a vote, the holder is entitled to a voice in the affairs of the Company.

Today anyone who wants to reach large numbers of people must advertise—must use the newspapers and the mails—and must do so persistently because competition is keen and everyone has many things to think of in this busy age.

An electric and gas company in a growing city must continually keep adding to its plant capacities and distributing systems in order to meet growing demands for service. It requires new capital all the time as long as it grows and does more business. In order to keep service rates reasonable the Company can not finance all new construction out of its earnings. It must have new capital from time to time, which, of course, is put to work on a profitable basis.

Last year about $1,000,000 of new capital supplied by 1,700 new shareholders was invested in property additions and a large amount of new business done as the result. This year the construction programme is quite extensive, as might be expected in a city where the electrical demands have doubled in the last four years.

As long as Louisville and the Company grow, and as long as we continue the policy of extending the small investor and the wage earner the opportunity of becoming part owners of the properties, you may expect to see our 7% Preferred Stock advertised.

Like many other business institutions, we have found that through advertising and salesmanship we can obtain better results at less expense than in any other way. Just as advertising played a prominent part in more than doubling the number of homes enjoying the advantage of electricity, so it is helping us make numbers of new shareholders every day—and we derive more satisfaction from selling one share of stock each to ten people than selling ten shares to one person. Both small and large investors are welcome.

MRS. ANNE HENRY.

Mrs. Anne Henry, eighty-four years old, widow of Michael Henry, passed peacefully into eternal rest on Thursday evening of last week at her residence, 652 South Floyd street. She was a native of Ireland, and was a woman of fine Christian character and the mother of good men and women, all of whom are now living in Kentucky. Surviving her are three sons, Charles and Paul Henry, Louisville, and Father Stafford Henry, of St. Rose church, Cloverport, and three daughters, Misses Bridget and Rose Henry and Sister Mary Isabelle, of the Sisters of Charity. The funeral services were held at St. Mary Magdalene's church, Rev. Father Henry celebrating the high mass of requiem, assisted by Rev. Father James Kelly, of New York, a nephew of the deceased. May she rest in peace!

JOAN OF ARC.

Tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 and evening at 6:30 and 8:30 o'clock at St. Xavier's Gymnasium will be presented the most unique motion picture in the world, showing His Holiness Benedict canonizing St. Joan of Arc, with actual scenes in the Vatican and St. Peter's. Also a prologue telling the story of Joan the maid from her childhood to the day when she was bound to the stake. This is the first time in history that the motion picture camera has been permitted to record an event of this kind. Those who see this picture will never forget the wonderful and magnificent spectacle, "Little Miss Sunshine," an intense comedy drama in five parts, will also be shown. This picture, full of heart interest and a wealth of comedy situation, has a sunbeam in every scene.

AMERICAN CARDINAL.

The Associated Press cables that the Vatican announced officially Sunday that the Most Rev. Dennis J. Dougherty, Archbishop of Philadelphia, will be created a Cardinal at the secret consistory to be held early in March. Archbishop Dougherty is expected to arrive in Rome early in March. He will be the guest of the American College in order to receive there ceremonial visits and congratulations on his elevation to the Cardinalate from the chief officials of the Papal and civil courts, high prelates and other friends and admirers. These visits will follow the secret consistory. As there are some formalities still to be settled, however, no announcement of the name of the appointee has yet been made. The new Bishop to be appointed for Sioux Falls, as announced from Rome, will not succeed Bishop Thomas O'Gorman, but will be his assistant. It was declared Sunday. Bishop O'Gorman's advanced age has made it difficult for him to care for all the demands of his growing diocese, it was explained.

PLEAD FOR MAYOR.

Counsel for Donal O'Callaghan, Lord Mayor of Cork, sought on Monday to have the State Department reconsider its decision that their client was without rights as a political refugee and subject to deportation because of his arrival in America as a stowaway without a passport. Department officials said careful consideration would be given the claims of O'Callaghan's counsel, but it was intimated that the department still regards the case as one for the Department of Labor to pass upon.

IRISH RELIEF.
The American nation is responding generously to the call of Erin. The children of the exile have sworn that Ireland shall not starve. They would like to give as much as Ireland gave the struggling colonies, but that will not happen now. Recognition has been denied, armed intervention is not probable, but dollars shall be at Ireland's disposal while a republican remains to sound the principle of liberty or death. This is Kentucky's answer to the appeal of Cardinal Gibbons, sounded Thursday night at the meeting of citizens called by Chairman Owen Sullivan at the Seelbach Hotel. Organized to function solely for charity, aiding the starving women and children in Ireland, and not connected with any other question, the great meeting that was part of it forms a happy augury for the success of the movement. Reaching Chairman Sullivan indicate that the State will be in action while influential committees, representing those high in the business and social world, are urging those of their own class to give a response worthy of Kentucky to Erin's call for help. The meeting taking place too late for this issue, the full report will appear next week.

COLUMBIA ELECTION.
Monday night the Columbia Athletic Club held an enthusiastic meeting and adopted new rules for its government and extending its benefits. President Brueggeman presided, the reports of Ben Brumleve and the Secretaries were approved, and the club announced the Island Queen secured for the season's first river excursion. Most interest centered in the election of a Board of Directors, for which twenty-five names had been posted. Those who will form the new board are Messrs. Edw. C. Brueggeman, John Ratterman, William Fox, Ben C. Beckman, Edward Tobe, Edward Score, Henry C. Fetter, J. J. Hettlinger, Ben Brumleve and Anthony Heilman. This board will meet Monday night and elect officers for the year 1921. John Bredeman, who recently returned from a Southern trip, accepted an invitation to deliver an address at the next meeting. The House Committee had arranged a luncheon and refreshments that were appreciated. The Columbia Club is planning for another very active year.

LIMERICK REJOICING.
Limerick has been rejoicing since Tuesday night, when the Bertrand basketball team was victorious over the St. Xavier boys and is now tied for second place in the Catholic League. Mackin, strengthened its hold on the championship, winning from the Knights of Columbus, while Trinity Council defeated the Vernons. The leaders are not far apart and the battle for the remaining games will be vigorously contested.

TAKES NASHVILLE BRIDE.

Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Dowd, of Nashville, Tenn., announce the wedding of their daughter Helen to Howard W. Denford, of Louisville. The ceremony took place on Monday afternoon of last week in the Church of Our Lady of Mercy, the Rev. M. O'Connor officiating. OPENS IN APRIL.

Directors of the new Visitation Home, 957 South Fourth street, have decided to open the home to the public formally with a tea to be given in April. The date will be announced later. The two residences on each side of the home, which were purchased some time ago, will be converted into annexes and connected with the present building. It is planned eventually to abolish the old Visitation Home at 614 West Walnut street. The directors will continue to serve as an auxiliary to the Sisters of Mercy, who are in charge of the home.
